Overview
Images of emperors and political figures, cityscapes and the daily life of commoners, artifacts and paintings, trading routes and maps function as supplements to lectures by introducing the study of images as historical documents that complement the readings. Analyzing the images together engages the class, and brings distant China into the classroom.

Technology Used
- PowerPoint
- Scanning and Digitization Tools

Outcomes
- The images add a rich texture and depth dimension to each lecture.

Sponsors
- Center for Instructional Technology